

The Waves - Akhila & the Alchemists - Lyrics

Bleeding inside
You'd better run and hide
They're just around the bend
They'll come for you, my friend
You never know
The lengths to which they go
To break you apart
Rip out your beating heart

The nights disappear
You wake to pain and fear
Faith, honour, trust
Words crumble into dust
Where is the love?
Below, before, above
Searching for signs
For diamonds in the mines

Look here we are where the sea meets the land
Let's dance to the song of the wind
Under darkening skies we stand tall hand in hand
Angels fall but the saints never sinned

Open your eyes
The world before you lies
The sun shining bright
Descends into the night
Bring down the wall
Listen to the call
The waves wild and free
Alive as you can be

Look here we are where the sea meets the land
Let's dance to the song of the wind
Under darkening skies we stand tall hand in hand
Angels fall but the saints never sinned

[interlude]

Open your eyes
The world before you lies
The sun shining bright
Descends into the night
Bring down the wall
Listen to the call
The waves wild and free
Alive as you can be

Look here we are where the sea meets the land
Let's dance to the song of the wind
Under darkening skies we stand tall hand in hand
Angels fall but the saints never sinned

Look here we are where the sea meets the land
Let's dance to the song of the wind
Under darkening skies we stand tall hand in hand
Angels fall but the saints never sinned

The waves wild and free
Alive as you can be